NEW CONGREGATIONAL METHODIST CHURCH. At three o'clock on Friday afternoon the solemn and interesting ceremony of laying the corner stone of a sacred edifice, to be dedicated to the worship of Almighty God according to the rites and tenets of the Congregations Methodists, took place in the city of Brooklyn, in the presence of a large assemblage of persons of various religious denominations. The new building, with which considerable progress has already been made, is situated in State street, near Hoyt, and, from present appearances, promises to be a very excellent architectural addition to that quarter of the "City of Churches." Its dimensions are ascertained to be sixty feet by eighty, with an extension of tweive feet, and it will be constructed entirely of brick, excepting these parts in which the use of wood is an indispensable necessity. The basement has already been completely closed in, and the workmen are actively engaged in piling up the upper portion of the superstructure.

The hour fixed for the laying of the corner stone having

The hour fixed for the laying of the corner stone having arrived, a goodly number of clergymen were present on the ground, among whom were the Rev. Mr. Baker, the officiating minister of the congregation, the Rev. Ir. Storrs and the Rev. Mr. Clarke.

The ceremony began with the sloging of a hymn appropriate to the occasion, and the invocation of the presence and bicssing of Him. to the glory of whose holy name the building was being raised. The service, though brief, was very impressive, and all who were present seemed to join very fervently in the exercises.

After the other parts of the occusions of the kind, the Rev. Mr. Change used to other occusions of the kind, the Rev. Mr. Change, of Brookly a, then addressed the congregation, complimenting the members of the church on the energy and and perseverance they had evinced in uniting to raise up the holy walls of a new church in which they could worship the Good of their fathers in spirit and in truth, and encouraging them to continued perseverance in the good work they had so well begun.

The Rev. Dr. Srooks followed in a short addresse, in which he made aliusion to the gratifying progress of religion as seen in the interest manifested for the increase of churches and the other means of imparting spiritual knowledge to the people.

FAILURE TO STOP THE LONG ISLAND SUNDAT TRAINS. Some weeks ago we noticed the fact that Alderman bouglass had presented a petition from the Scotch Presbyterian church, corner of Atlantic and Bond streets, Brooklyn, to the Common Council of that city, requesting the stoppage of the Sunday trains on the Long Island road, which run through Atlantic street. It was referred to the Raitroad Committee. At the last meeting of the Common Council a minority report was presented in favor of the patition. It was rejected.

A petition laving been sent to the Mayor of Cincinnati, agned by some four hundred citizens, requesting him to enforce the Sunday law against the omnibuses which run there generally on that day, be has signified his intention to do so, though a counter petition, headed by Nicholas Longworth, and signed by one thousand citizens, has been urged upon his attention. Next Sauday the attempt is to be made to enforce the law. The onnibus lines have agreed to resist the measure. It is generally disapproved.

GROSVENER GATE, PARK LANE, LONDON, Oct. 25, 1868.

Also transcript of a private letter giving further details of this cruel outrage.

Also transcript of a private letter giving further details of this cruel cutrage.

No doubt this case, which has justly raised almost universal indignation, has come under your notice, and you will regione to co-operate with the Jews in England, Holland and France, in the adoption of such measures as in your judgment may be expedient, by appeal to your government and otherwise, to seek to obtain the restoration of the child to its afflicted parents, and also the prevention of similar outrages for the future.

You cannot fail to perceive that this is a matter affecting not the Jews alone, but also every other denomination of faith, except the Roman Catholic, further, that it cannot be regarded exclusively under a religious aspect, but as placing in perit personal liberty, social relations, and the jeace of families.

The Board of Deputies, therefore, hesiate not to believe that this appeal to your active sympathies will meet with a cheerful and immediate response, so that, under the blessings of the Almighty, we may hope to have the happiness of obtaining redress for the grievous wrong which has been committed, and of preventing the recurrence of similar attractites.

Signor Mamolo Mortara Levi was residing at Bologna with his wife and children.

In the year 1852, his son, about twelve months old, was taken ill with fever (virminoso) common to children in this country, but, as the attending doctor certifies, not in danger of his life; the servant, a Catholic, fourteen years of age, was advised by the grocer to baptise the child; she observed to him that it was not right to do so; but the grocer replied there was no harm in it, only, in case of the child dying she would by so doing secure him a place in Paradise, and he taught her how to do; not any more was known about it.

Last year another of the children was taken ill; the same girl was advised by a woman neighbor to baptise him; but she refused, although she had all the opportunity of so doing, the child being often entrusted to her care, and therefore he died as a dew.

After this, the servant being reproached by the said woman, she told her she was very glad of it; she repented very much what she had done some years ago by taking the grocer's advice, and now she was twenty years of age, felt how wrong she had been in deceiving her master and mistress, which she could not consider then, being too young. The woman prevailed on her to commonwheate what she had done to a priest, but she replied she did not know the importance of it when she did it. Finding she would not go, the woman went personally and reported the fact. The servant was immediately summoned before the linguisition, and sworn not to say anything about it, and most particularly to her master and mistress.

In the middle of the night the bishop sent the guards to take the child from his parents arms, the child crying bitterly for his mamma; the mother fainted, the father sevenced, and, amid the screams and terrors of all the neighbors, they went away with the child, who was sent immediately to Rome, at the Calecumeni, where he still is 4.4 first the poor father was prevented seeing his child, but afterwards this was allowed in the presence of the retiore. It is said that the French Ambassador questioned the child, who answered him that he could say neither more nor less than his rettore had imposed on him to say. Many times the desolated father claimed his child through Father Antoneill, and now it is said the case is before the Pope, who wishes to study it himself; but the result of his judgment is very much feared.

FORCIBLE ABDUCTION OF A JEWISH CHILD.

The forcible abduction by the Romish inquisition of a dewish child six years old, at Bologna, under the pretence of its having been, five years ago, secretly baptized by its Catholic nurse, has created a most painful sensation throughout the Jewish world. Twenty-one Sardinian congregations have addressed a joint and most pathetic appeal to the London Fewish Board of Departies, soliciting its interference in behalf of he beart broken family. The Foard met on Menday hast, when it was unanimously resolved to respond to the appeal. A sub-committee of cight was appointed, with Sr Moses Montefore at its head, to which full power was given to take all necessary steps required by the emergency. The sub-committee resolved to put itself in communication with the Brenditish Central Consisteries of France and Holland, to appeal to the press of English government, and, if need be, to send a deputation GENTIMENA—A cruei and burbarous scene was enacted a month ago in the house of one of our brethren at Bologna, named Mortars, a respectable and worthy man, the father of a family predessing the Jewish religion. A child, six years old, has been forn from its parents, under the pretence that it had been baptized by a Christian maid applications offered by the parents to the authorities have to the present moracut proved unavailing, either to recover the child or to learn anything of its fate.

The history of the past unfortunately records many cases similar to that of Mortara; but times have changed, and the civil and pointical conditions of reveral European States permit us now at least to express our abhorrence of there excels or crueity which are still committed in some parts of the civilized world, in the name of religion, by giperant and fannicial ministers. It becomes, therefore, an obvious duty, in the present instance, that we should avail ourselves of the universal press to appear to all mankind against acts which violate the most sacred rights of paternity in its dearest affections, and that we should endeavor by all possible means not only to obtain redress for the ourage in question, but to prevent the re-enalment of such an event, affording protection to our core-ligious whose lot may be cast in countries where the laws are powerless against such horrible occurrences.

Curious Proceedings Under the New Wrecking Law-At tempt to Force American Shipmasters to Submit to an Ex-amination—Resistance of Captain Sheldon, of the Ameri-

Some time ago I sent you a copy of our new wrecking law. Perhaps it was uninteresting then; but things have taken quite a turn, and much discussion is raised. The American bark Montpelier, Capt. Hy. Clay, was wrecked at North Birnini, on the night of the 21st July, while on a voyage from Bordeaux to New Orleans, with a cargo of wines, &c. The salvage was settled by arbitration, some days after which Capt. Clay received an invitation to at tend the police office, and at the same time a summons requiring him to produce his log book, register and mani-days after which Capt. Clay received an invitation to attend the police office, and at the same time a summons requiring him to produce his log book, register and manifest. The Captain thought it advisable to retain a lawyer, who went with him to the police office. The Attorney General, who was present, stated, before any proceeding was had, that they intended to inquire into the occasion of the loss of the Montpeller, and that the examination would take place under the 28th section of the law, as there were no grounds for suspecting that there had been any fraud. Capt. Clay protested, by his counsel, that the police magnitude had fraudulently colluded with some wrecker, and, under protest, he was examined.

After the examination, which was taken on oath, Capt. Clay was saked to sign the written evidence, which, by advice of his counsel, he refused to do.

When his papers were demanded of him, he again protested that the magnitude had no power to demand them, unless he had reason to auspect that the provisions of the wrecking law, or the laws for the time being relating to merchant scames, were not compled with, or had been as some way violated. The Court overruled the objection, and they were given up, under protest.

I enclose you an extract of the law, and a copy of Capt. Clay's protest, which is purely legal, not discussing the policy of the measure, or its international character.

Since this, the American bark Japonica, Capt. Sheidon, has been wrecked at Surrup Cay, while on a voyage from Philadelphia to Havana. Her captain has been in like manner invited and summoned; but the course he has pursued is different to Capt. Clay's, and one which is best calculated to bring the question of the right of the authorities to call upon American simpasters to be examined as to the ioss of their shaps. He has phainly refused to attend, and the problem no be soived in the course he has pursued is different to Capt. He down or stand up, without mortally he had the assistance of the best physicians the villafferded, without any mitigation of his sufferings. When had departed, as a last means he swallowed eight Brander period universal pills, and then applied over the seal eight a mustard plaster. In two hours the pills operated, found, the pain continued until this effect occurred, yet it caused courterly, and he recovered his beathing a few days, two years have now passed, and there has been no return educate.

Over two years have now passed, and there has been no return of the disease. A gentleman of New York suffered from pain in the chest and dyspepsis. He made his will, and fully expected that his days were short. But he was prevailed upon to take one Brandreth regetable universal pill each night white they benefited bim. He commenced, and was relieved even the first day. He took another, and yet snother; his health improved, and he still centiqued to take a nill cash night. He did this for three hundred and sixts five nights, and by this time he had become entirely cured, and added seventy five pounds to his weight.

Where is the medicine that can effect such results, save Brandreth's pulls? Principal office 294 Canal street.
